Electrospinning is a fiber production method which uses electric force to draw charged threads of polymer solutions or polymer melts up to fiber diameters in the order of some hundred nanometers. Electrospinning shares characteristics of both electrospraying and conventional solution dry spinning of fibers. The process does not require the use of coagulation chemistry or high temperatures to ...

Climate change is now a major concern. The polar ice caps are reported to be melting and sea levels are rising due to an increase in the average temperature of the Earth's atmosphere and oceans. Global warming is driven by increasing levels of tropospheric gases that contribute to the so-called greenhouse effect.

Sintering is the process of compacting and forming a solid mass of material by heat or pressure without melting it to the point of liquefaction.. Sintering happens naturally in mineral deposits or as a manufacturing process used with metals, ceramics, plastics, and other materials. The atoms in the materials diffuse across the boundaries of the particles, fusing the particles together and ...
