Productive and unproductive labour are concepts that were used in classical political economy mainly in the 18th and 19th centuries, which survive today to some extent in modern management discussions, economic sociology and Marxist or Marxian economic analysis. The concepts strongly influenced the construction of national accounts in the Soviet Union and other Soviet-type societies (see ...

Surplus product (German: Mehrprodukt) is an economic concept explicitly theorised by Karl Marx in his critique of political economy. Marx first began to work out his idea of surplus product in his 1844 notes on James Mill's Elements of political economy.. Notions of "surplus produce" have been used in economic thought and commerce for a long time (notably by the Physiocrats), but in Das Kapital ...

Increasing complexity correlates with increasing flows of energy into a system. Increasing flows will necessarily be turned into greater complexity until a limit is reached, and as a corollary the increasing flows cannot occur without ramifying, growing complexity to provide an outlet for conversion of fuel to kinetic energy and heat.
